A. Inter-Tribal Council of Nevada Resolution No. 08-ITCN-06 .............................................. 17
Nevada American Indian and Alaska Native Education
Strategic Plan 2009-2014

Background

The Nevada Indian Commission (NIC) is a state agency that was established in 1965 to study matters affecting the social and economic welfare and well-being of American Indians residing in the state of Nevada. The NIC was established to be a mediary for tribal-state relations and the entity through which tribal concerns and issues affecting American Indian and Alaska Natives could be directly addressed with the Governor. The NIC serves as a liaison between the state and federally recognized tribes comprised of 27 separate tribes, bands and community councils. Commission activities are aimed at developing and improving cooperation and communications between the tribes, state, local governments, and related public agencies with the purpose of improving education, employment, health, well-being and socio-economic status of Nevada’s American Indian citizens and enhancing tribal sovereignty, economic opportunities and community development.

The NIC authorized the formation of an advisory committee on Indian Education (see committee listing on page 14) at a meeting held on June 20, 2002. The Indian Education Advisory Committee (IEAC) began meeting under current administration in October 2005. Aware that American Indian/Alaska Native (AI/AN) students enrolled in Nevada’s public school system have a high drop out rate, high absenteeism rate and low achievement test scores and graduation rate, the IEAC brought this information to the attention of the State Board of Education at their December 3, 2005 meeting. Subsequently, the IEAC was officially appointed by the State Board of Education (SBOE) as the Task Force on Indian Education to accomplish a strategic plan for Indian Education in Nevada. The motion to create the Task Force was passed unanimously on January 21, 2006 by the State Board of Education.

Introduction

Within this document, the Indian Education Advisory Committee has identified 12 goals to ensure no American Indian/Alaska Native (AI/AN) child is left behind in the benefits of education afforded to all other students in the state. The goals are provided to ensure that the unique language, cultural and historical differences of AI/ANs are included in educating all youth in the state.

The IEAC promotes equal educational opportunities for AI/AN students and is focused on furthering government-to-government relationship with Tribes, and the empowerment of parents and Indian communities and organizations to develop partnerships with local school districts, the Nevada Department of Education and the Nevada State Board of Education.
The IEAC seeks to encourage Indian parents, school districts, local school boards, the Superintendent of Public Instruction, State Department of Education, State Board of Education and Tribes to work together to explore and find ways to address the high drop out rate, high absenteeism rate, low graduation rate and low achievement test scores of Indian students. The Advisory Committee believes that all students can succeed and must be challenged to reach their full potential by being provided with opportunities to learn and be actively included in the local school system.

It was also important that the IEAC include input from Nevada’s Tribal leadership. The draft plan was presented to the Inter-Tribal Council of Nevada on July 18, 2008. The Inter-Tribal Council of Nevada is a body comprised of 27 elected representatives from each of Nevada’s tribes. The Inter-Tribal Council of Nevada passed a resolution (see Attachment A) supporting the efforts of the IEAC and the Nevada American Indian and Alaska Native Education Strategic Plan. Further, that the tribes support the Plan approval and adoption by the State Board of Education.

This document will be reviewed periodically and a report on the progress of the Plan will be presented to the Nevada Indian Commission Executive Board, the Inter-Tribal Council of Nevada Executive Board and the State Board of Education.
